

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them.

They litter the whole system. Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt shewn on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mrs. I. A. O. Brown, Rumford Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that other alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup. Camden (S. C.) "HOSTAGES OF HOPE."Romantic Story of an $80,000,000 Fortune.*An Akron Woman One of 200 Heirs to Estate Left in Holland 100 Years Ago.

Mrs. Frances C. Underwood, of 305 South High st., has received a letter from a relative in New Jersey, informing her that she is probably among the heirs to an $80,000,000 estate which has been held in trust in Holland for 100 years. Mrs. Underwood is not disposed to lose much time thinking over the fortune, but admits that the name of some of her early ancestors is identical with that of the man who left the estate in Holland, 100 years ago. Chauncey M. Depew's new wife is said to be among the heirs, and her husband has already taken steps to look after her interests. The estimated number of heirs is 200, nearly all of whom live in the United States, and the story of the fortune reads like a romance, with much of the colonial flavor now in vogue with the reading public.

The story might appropriately be entitled "Hostage of Hope," or "Caspar Cronkhite's Cunning." It goes something like this: In days before the Revolution three brothers emigrated from the Netherlands, and settled in and about Manhattan, which their compatriots had bought from the Indians for $24. The exact date of their arrival is not known, nor is there reason to believe that they participated in any particularly stirring events until the mutiny against tyrannical King George became open rebellion. Then the brothers became estranged. Caspar was all for the King; his two brothers were supporters of the Revolution, and differences of opinion brought about a rupture of brotherly love. Caspar Cronkhite returned to Holland with a small fortune he had accumulated. The two brothers fought the good fight, reared families and their descendants evolved from fat old burghers to the cream de la creme of the fashionable world.

It is among the descendants of the brothers who became Revolutionists that the fortune will be divided. For old Caspar soured with advancing years, and devoted his life to piling up golden gulden in the gin trade, eschewing frivolities of courtship, and the joys which come with happy marriage. His golden coins were his children, and from the immensity of the estate left, he loved them far too well to let them stray far unless they would be industrious and return increased many folds. In the fulness of time he was gathered to his forefathers, and his only surviving heirs were his two American brothers and their families.

But in Caspar Cronkhite tenacity of purpose was intermingled with slumbering love of kith and kin. He had not forgotten the differences engendered at the beginning of the Revolution, and while he wanted the money to remain in the Cronkhite family, he wished to express his displeasure at the course pursued by his brothers. Therefore, he directed that the estate be invested in Holland bonds and that it be kept intact, principal and interest, until 100 years had elapsed, at which time it was to be divided, share and share alike, among the descendants of his brothers. The century has expired, and the estate is now said to be worth approximately $80,000,000. Each legatee will receive a substantial fortune.

COUNT TOLSOI IS SOMEWHAT IMPROVED

Yalta, Crimea, Feb. 17.—Count Tolstoi is somewhat improved today. His pulse is 90 and his temperature is satisfactory. GAVE MEDICINE SIX HOURS AFTER DEATH.*A Sick Cow, and Why Officer Haberkost and "Doc" Streeby Buy So Many Cigars.

One day last week a cow kept at the stables of the Geo. J. Renner Brewing Co. became suddenly and violently sick. Such was the seriousness of her condition that one "Doc" Streeby was detailed to look after her comfort, and to call in assistance if circumstances warranted it. "Doc" didn't claim to be a veterinary surgeon, but he did admit that he knew no small amount about live stock—in fact, his reputation gave him his title. It also happens that Policeman August J. Haberkost, whose beat is in the vicinity of Renner's brewery, knows one or two things about taking care of sick animals, and chancing along and hearing the cow's groans and "Doc's" words of condolence, he at once volunteered to give all the assistance he could. "The fact is," began Officer Haberkost, gravely feeling the cow's pulse, "this animal is very sick. Moreover, she is now unconscious, and must have some medicine at once. Get the bottle, and we'll give her a dose." This was done. In about an hour, Officer Haberkost returned, and noticing the same symptoms of unconsciousness that attracted his attention on the first visit, he advised giving the cow another dose. Accordingly, "Doc" raised her head, held her mouth open, and the blue-coat poured in. Still another trip to the stable was made by the officer, and again he and "Doc" called a veterinary surgeon. "Gee whizz!" began the veterinary, after examining the patient, "this cow has been dead for six hours." Officer Haberkost and "Doc" Streeby are now at the mercy of their friends.

A MAN'S RIGHTTo Kill Himself If He so Desires, Declares a Philadelphia Judge.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 17.—Herbert Wright of this city has been arraigned before Judge Arnold on the charge of taking laudanum with suicidal intent. Wright pleaded "guilty to attempting suicide but not with intent to kill myself." In dismissing the case Judge Arnold said he doubted if there is such an offense in this country as attempted suicide. The law emanated, he said, from courts where there were Kings and Emperors, who adopted the theory that it was wrong for a man to kill himself and thus reduce the number of the King's subjects. The judge added that a man's life belonged to himself and his Creator and he did not know but that the man had a right to kill himself if he so desired.

Kodol
Dyspepsia Cure
Digests what you Eat

You can best succeed in life with a good digestion. Strong stomach makes a vigorous man. The feeling of languor, the dull headache, the sensation of fullness, pains and tenderness in the region of the stomach, flatulence, belching and vomiting, the thousand and one symptoms of indigestion or other stomach trouble, of which most of us know more or less, unfit both body and mind for hard work or continuous application. You wouldn't suffer like that if you knew a certain remedy, would you? Yet such a remedy exists. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure quickly relieves all these symptoms, and, by giving the stomach entire rest, speedily cures the disease itself.

Even among the happy possessors of comparatively sound stomachs there are few who are not at least occasional sufferers. Irregular hours, mild dissipation, excessive use of tobacco, hasty eating or overindulgence in a favorite dish frequently produce as unpleasant though not as lasting results as the most serious of chronic cases. If these temporary sufferers realized that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure offered sure and almost immediate relief how many would neglect to keep it constantly in the house?

You can go about your business and disregard a pain in any other part of the body. But stomach trouble prostrates. The stomach supplies the entire system. If it fails to perform its task these supplies are cut off—and we cannot live without food. We all know this, but haven't we fallen into the error of assuming that, once swallowed, food has accomplished the purpose for which it was eaten? It hasn't, by any means. Until it is properly digested the system cannot assimilate it. It remains in the stomach until it decomposes and might far better not have been eaten at all. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests this food, without aid from the stomach and digests it as well as the stomach itself could do the work. Through its aid the food you have eaten is reduced to a form in which the system can assimilate it and the body is built up while the tired stomach rests.

The trouble with dyspepsia is that they're starving. They have eaten but their food is undigested and consequently does them no good. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure not only relieves the patient's sufferings in such cases but also removes the cause of suffering. It relieves by digesting the patient's food and enabling his system to transform it into bone and muscle, blood and brain. It cures by allowing the stomach rest until it is restored to its natural condition.

If the stomach is out of order not an organ of the body escapes some corresponding derangement. There are few diseases which cannot be traced directly to the stomach. If the stomach is weak the body is weak. If the stomach is strong, the entire body is strong.

None of us want to suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, but the hurry and nervous tension of the times have made them the commonest complaints of the generation. Often we eat too fast, too soon after or too shortly before violent physical exercise or severe mental strain. Sometimes we are too busy to eat at all at the proper time and overload our stomachs when the opportunity comes. For a while the abused organ stands the strain. Finally it collapses.

It gives the stomach perfect rest.

Dear Sirs:—I have suffered a great deal from nervous dyspepsia for the last twelve months. I tried two doctors who said they could not cure me, but your agent came along and I bought some Kodol Dyspepsia Cure to sell, and decided to try it myself and I found more relief from that than anything I have taken. I eat anything I want to and improve every day and it has given my customers perfect satisfaction.

I can heartily recommend it to all that are suffering from indigestion or dyspepsia to be the best remedy on the market. Yours truly, J. W. Smith, Preston, N. C.

Gentlemen:—For the sake of suffering dyspeptics I render this testimonial. After suffering thirteen years from indigestion (neuralgia of the stomach and all its multiform troubles) and after receiving treatment from many doctors for the same, I was induced to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, buying my first bottle in March 1900. Since that time I have used nearly two dozen bottles—a proof of my faith in its virtue.

I have not had one pain since commencing its use. Sometimes I can go two or three days without using it and I consider myself in a fair way toward permanent recovery. Fraternally yours, J. Visson, Lonsaoning, Md.

Gentlemen:—A few months ago I gave up hope of living and was in such agony from chronic indigestion that I prayed I might pass from my suffering. One day I learned of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and decided to try it. I had taken but one teaspoonful of it when the pain in my stomach ceased. That day I enjoyed a good meal for the first time in many months.

After taking three bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure I am as well as ever. It saved my life and I cannot recommend it too highly.—Mrs. Alva F. Crawford, Pittsburg, N. H.

Gentlemen:—I have been troubled with indigestion for ten years and have tried many things and spent much money till I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken two bottles and have obtained more relief from them than from all the other medicines I ever used. I am now feeling better than I have been in five years and feel more like a boy than I have felt in twenty years.—Respectfully, Anderson Riggs, Sunny Lane, Tex.

Prepared by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much (by actual measurement) as the trial size which sells for 50 cents.

GOOD TIME

Enjoyed at Sherbondy by A Sleighing Party.

(Special Correspondence.)

Sherbondy, Feb. 14.—On Tuesday evening a jolly sleighing party from Fairlawn, and Akron drove to Sherbondy, where they spent the evening at the home of D. O. Betz. The guests were entertained with music and games. An oyster supper was served. Schools at this place on Thursday entertained visitors from the northern part of the township. Visitors from here were entertained at the northern schools on the Tuesday preceding. Mr. W. W. Washburn has been appointed road supervisor to fill to place of Mr. Wm. Cline, who resigned. This is quite an important position, as he will have jurisdiction over several districts.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Frederick are visiting in New Orleans. There are others in the neighborhood who are longing for a few New Orleans breezes.
